Jay Webster has worked in the film & video industry for the last 20 years in dozen of capacities including photographer, editor, director, producer and most recently screenwriter. In 1997, he partnered with wife Ann-Janette to start an Oklahoma based creative team (Pioneer Productions Inc) which has worked heavily with notable non-profit groups as well as various entertainment artists. Having produced music videos, made for TV concert events and a series of documentary style programming, Webster turned his sights toward feature films in 2009.

Based on wife Ann-Janette's original pop songs, Webster wrote and directed LoveTown - pop-musical which tells the tale of a mysterious bar singer (played by Ann-Janette) who helps three wandering souls find their way back to love. First debuting as a stage experience for OKM International Music Festival, the dark, but hopeful film is the couple's first feature and will premiere at the award winning deadCENTER film festival in Oklahoma City in 2012.

Webster's plans are to continuing working quality nonprofit groups while pursuing a series of creative documentary and entertainment films. He currently promoting LoveTown along with Ann-Janette and seeking future narrative based projects.
